PREFACE

There is a vast amount of historical material in the world, much of it even concentrated in libraries or in printed volumes, that is not accessible because it is not indexed. Many a careful searcher has groaned in spirit as he wasted precious hours searching for some detailed fact through a wilderness of volumes and pages. With a proper index he could have turned in a moment to the object of his search.

The Bulletin of the Friends' Historical Society, in the ten volumes thus far published, has gathered together a large amount of material bearing upon the history of the Society of Friends. Much of it comes from rare sources. Some of it has never been printed before. In order to make this material accessible to Friends and to all students of history, this General Index has been compiled and published. It will be found to be very full, both as to proper names and subject headings. It contains more than five thousand entries.

Amy L. Post, of the Haverford College Library, did the major part of the indexing. The remainder was done by Mary Ellis, of the New York State Library School, who also did the verifying and proof-reading of the whole. Amelia Mott Gummere and Elizabeth B. Jones also rendered very valuable service in proof-reading.

It is hoped that this General Index may guide every searcher promptly to his objective, and encourage all authors and publishers of Quaker history to make their contributions similarly accessible.
